

DR JACK McCAFFRIE, CDRE RAN Rtd

Jack McCaffrie is a member of the Naval Studies Group at the Australian Defence Force Academy campus of UNSW and an Honorary Principal Fellow at the Australian National Centre for Ocean Resources and Security at Wollongong University. He is co-author (with James Goldrick) of Navies of Southeast Asia – A Comparative Study and was principal author of Australian Maritime Operations, 2nd ed., one of the Navy's two capstone doctrine publications. His most recent publication is Wings of Gold a co-authored work recounting the experiences of the RAN Midshipmen selected to undergo their flying training with the USN in the late 1960s. Current work includes a history of the Pacific Patrol Boat Program, with Chris Rahman, a contribution to a book on the RAN Chiefs of Naval Staff and a book examining the influences on RAN force development from 1955-1982.